

Cheshire Historic Environment Record Conditions of Use and License for Re-use of Information

By accepting information provided by Archaeology Planning Advisory Service of Cheshire Shared Services from the Historic Environment Record you are acknowledging that you have read and agree to these conditions of use.

- 1. The Archaeology Planning Advisory Service is committed to the protection, conservation and enhancement of the historic environment. To this end, users of the Historic Environment Record may be required to inform the Service of the purpose and location of their enquiry and the use to which the information will be put.
- 2. It is not the intention of Archaeology Planning Advisory Service to provide environmental information where the disclosure of such information would increase the likelihood of damage to the environment.
- 3. Information is provided pursuant to Section 141 of the Local Government Act 1972, and the Environmental Information Regulations 2004.
- 4. Cheshire West and Chester Council collect, use and is responsible for certain personal information about you. Cheshire West and Chester Council is regulated under the General Data Protection Regulation which applies across the European Union and are responsible as 'controller' of that personal information for the purposes of those laws. For further information see:
<https://www.cheshirewestandchester.gov.uk/system-pages/privacy-notice/data-protection-and-your-rights.aspx>.
- 5. In the course of making an enquiry with the Historic Environment Record we may collect the following personal information when you provide it to us: contact details, details of employer, details of the enquiry and correspondence. This information is used in an aggregated and anonymous form for the purpose of the Service's annual reports and to enable your enquiry to be fulfilled.
- 6. Historic Environment information and/or data sets are supplied on the understanding that they are for the use of the enquirer only and should not be sold, copied or passed on to any third party without our express permission. All datasets should be returned or destroyed at the end of the programme of work for which they were licensed.
- 7. The Historic Environment Record is the copyright of Archaeology Planning Advisory Service. However it contains information which may be the copyright of others. It is the user's responsibility to ensure that the laws of copyright are not breached.
- 7. Information from the Historic Environment Record should not be incorporated in any database, electronic retrieval system or published in any format, including electronic, without Archaeology Planning Advisory Service's express permission. Where this is given, due acknowledgement of the Cheshire Historic Environment Record must be given in any publication or report which has made use of its data.
- 9. Users are encouraged to inform the Historic Environment Record of new sites or information which may come to light as a result of their research. Copies of, or access to, the research should also be made available to the Historic Environment Record.

10. The information in the Historic Environment Record has been compiled from a variety of (often unchecked) sources; therefore the Archaeology Planning Advisory Service or any of its officers cannot accept responsibility for any omissions or consequences of errors and will not accept any claims for negligence or compensation.

11. The inclusion of a site in the Historic Environment Record in no way implies that public access to that site is available. The vast majority of sites (including Scheduled Monuments) and buildings are on private land and have no public access.
